1. Definitions

The “Trust” refers to the company known as the University Schools Trust, East London and all Trustees, Governors and Staff who work within it.

A “School” refers to an individual academy within the Trust, as denoted by their Unique Reference Number. As such a ‘school’ may span one or several phases of education to the individual academies within the Trust. Depending on the context the term “School” may refer to a singular academy or to all of the academies within the Trust but as separate entities.

The “Staff” refers to any individual who is employed by the Trust or who operates on the Trust’s behalf, e.g. Trustees and Governors.

A “Parent” includes the natural or adoptive parent of a pupil as well as any non-parent / carer who has parental responsibility including being involved in the day to day care of a pupil.

A “Pupil” includes any incoming or current pupil at any School within the Trust. It also includes any individual who was previously a pupil at any School within the Trust and who has left within the appropriate timeframe for consideration as necessary, e.g. complaints. The term pupil is used as standard by the UST in its policy documents but can be replaced with the term “student” or “child” with no change of definition.

The “Headteacher” is defined as the individual who has ultimate responsibility for a school in line with UST strategy, approach, ethos and values. Individual schools may have alternative titles for this position such as Executive Headteacher or Principal.

Policy specific definitions:

Special educational provision is educational or training provision that is additional to or different from that made generally for other children or young people of the same age by mainstream schools, maintained nursery schools, mainstream post-16 institutions or by relevant early years providers.

6. Disabled Students

Many children and young people who have SEN may have a disability under the Equality Act 2010 – that is ‘...a physical or mental impairment which has a long term and substantial adverse effect on their ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities’.

This a significant overlap between disabled young people and those with special educational needs. Where a young person requires special educational provision over and above the adjustments, aids and services required by the Equality Act 2010 they will be additionally covered by the SEN definition.

7. Core Principles

Royal Greenwich Trust School fully endorses the SEND Code of Practice (2015) core principles:

All children and young people are entitled to an education that enables them to make progress so that they:

- achieve their best
- become confident individuals living fulfilling lives, and
- make a successful transition into adulthood, whether into employment, further or higher education or training

Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice: 0 to 25 years 2015

Royal Greenwich Trust School is fully committed to the inclusion of students with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) providing that the school is compatible for the child’s age, ability and aptitude and that their attendance is not incompatible with the efficient education of other students in the school and is an efficient use of the Local Authority’s resources.

In keeping with the school’s Equality Policy, we affirm that

- All learners are of equal value
- We recognise, respect and value difference and understand that diversity is strength
- We foster positive attitudes and relationships
- We foster a shared sense of cohesion and belonging
- We have the highest expectations of all our students
- We work to raise standards for all students, but especially for the most vulnerable
- We observe good equalities practice for our staff

All areas of the main building are fully accessible for people with disabilities or limited mobility.

8. Partnership with Families

The school works in partnership with parents. This will enable students with SEND to achieve good outcomes. The school recognises that parents have a unique overview of their child’s needs and how best to support them, and that this gives them a key role in the partnership.

We have high aspirations for all our students, including those with SEND. In keeping with the principles of Person-Centred Planning*, students with SEND are integral to the decision-making processes affecting them. We recognise that young people are entitled to the same quality and level of information, advice and support as their parents/carers. Students' views, opinions, wishes and feelings are always considered. We aim to provide as much information and support as necessary to help students achieve the best possible outcomes, preparing them effectively for adulthood.

Version Control
Date	Version	Comments
18/11/22	3.0

*Person centred planning is a process for continual listening and learning, focusing on what is important to someone now and in the future, and acting upon this in alliance with their family and friends.

9. Identifying and Assessing Pupils with SEN

Royal Greenwich Trust School has a clear approach to identifying and responding to SEND

The school has detailed exchanges with feeder primary schools and secondary schools when a student joins RGTS, or is admitted mid-year or joins our post 16 provision. Information gained is used to shape the student's curriculum and pastoral provision in the first few months. This ensures that students have opportunities to demonstrate knowledge and understanding.

All teachers at Royal Greenwich Trust School are responsible for identifying students with SEND during their time at Royal Greenwich Trust School and, in collaboration with the SENDCO will ensure that those students requiring different or additional support are identified at an early stage. Class teachers can raise concerns they may have about individual student progress, by completing a Royal Greenwich Trust School 'SEND Referral Form.' See Appendix 2.

The school regularly gathers and information from within the school about every student's progress, alongside national data and expectations of progress. Academic data is updated and scrutinised by class teachers and the SENDCO at specific points throughout the academic year and shared with students and parents. Progress is the crucial factor in determining the need for additional support. Less than expected progress might:

- be significantly slower than that of their peers starting from the same baseline
- failure to match or better the student's previous rate of progress
- failure to close the attainment gap between the child and their peers
- widen the attainment gap

Furthermore, Vulnerable Student Index meetings, chaired by the Assistant Headteacher: KS3/Character Development and attended by Deputy Headteacher: Inclusion, the SENDCO, Student Services Manager and Student and Family Support Worker, are held on a weekly basis to review the academic and pastoral progress of students, and to plan future actions. During these meetings, students' attendance and behaviour data is also considered.

As soon as a concern is raised, the SEND Team will liaise with class teachers and in collaboration ensure that:

- Where a student is making less than expected progress despite verified high quality, differentiated teaching, parents will be consulted and further class-based assessments will take place. A period of additional class-based interventions will then follow.

Version Control
Date	Version	Comments
18/11/22	3.0

- If, despite class teachers' intervention the student continues to make less than expected progress, the SENDCO is then responsible for investigating and where necessary assessing the student to determine if the student potentially has special educational needs, noting areas that are barriers to learning which may require support.
- The identification and assessment of SEN includes an early discussion with the student and their parents. These early discussions with parents enable school staff to develop a good understanding of the student's areas of strength and difficulty, the parents' concerns, the agreed outcomes sought for the pupil and the next steps.
- We expect students and parents to participate as fully as possible in the assessment, planning and reviewing process.
- With parental agreement, the school will liaise with outside professionals if they are already involved with the pupil.
- For higher levels of need, the SENDCO will draw on more specialised assessments from external agencies and professionals.

The SEND Code of Practice 2015 does not assume that there are hard and fast categories of SEND. It recognises that children's needs and requirements fall into four broad areas:

- Cognition and learning
- Communication and interaction
- Sensory and/or physical needs
- Social, emotional and mental health difficulties

In line with the SEND Code of Practice we accept that students often have needs that cut across all these areas and their needs may change over time.

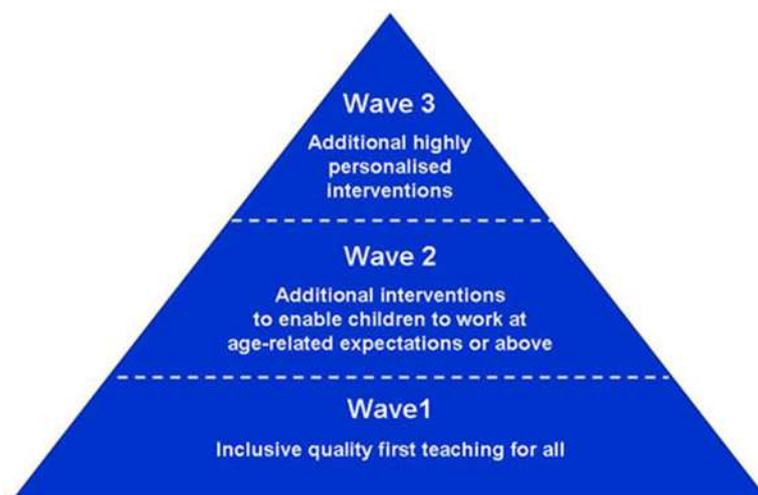

We acknowledge that while considering the needs of the whole child, some areas which are not SEN may impact on progress and attainment:

- Disability
- Attendance and punctuality
- Health and welfare
- English as an additional language
- Social and economic disadvantage
- Being a looked after child

N.B Behaviour is not a special educational need in itself. In keeping with the SEND Code of Practice poor behaviour is viewed as a response to an underlying unmet need which the school, in partnership with parents will endeavour to identify.

10. The Graduated Approach to Meeting Special Educational Needs

Royal Greenwich Trust School is committed to delivering inclusive quality first teaching for all students. However, there may be occasions where some students need further support. To ensure that students are able to access Royal Greenwich Trust School’s curriculum, targeted interventions for a given period of time will be put in place. Following this, more specialised support may be needed.

Wave 1: Inclusive quality first teaching for all

All students are entitled to high quality teaching. This is also described as ‘universal provision’. Some students may, at times, be taught in small groups or in a one-to-one situation to support their learning. Teachers are often skilled at adjusting their teaching to suit differences in learning. Additional SEND teaching informs and supports universal high quality teaching. All teachers are able to make creative adaptations to classroom practice enabling students with SEND to learn inclusively and meaningfully, alongside their peers.

Wave 2: Additional Intervention

However, in spite of high quality, differentiated teaching, it may become evident that some students need increased levels of provision and support.

- In consultation with parents and their child / young person, the desired outcomes, including expected progress and attainment, are agreed.
- A decision is then made as to whether this can be provided by adapting the school’s core offer or whether something different or additional is required.
- All teachers and support staff who work with the student are made aware of their needs, the outcomes sought, the support provided and any teaching strategies or approaches that are required. This will be recorded on the school’s information system (SIMS).
- A clear date for reviewing progress is agreed, with clear actions set out for the parent, student and teaching staff.
- Where it is decided that a student has a special educational need (SEN), this decision is recorded in the school records and the parents are informed. At this point the student will be identified on the SEND Register as ‘School Support,’ marked K on Sims.
- Class teachers remain responsible for working with the student on a daily basis. Where the interventions involve group or one-to-one teaching away from the class teacher, they should still retain responsibility for the student. Teachers are expected to work closely with any Learning Support Assistants or specialist staff involved, to plan and assess the impact of support and interventions and how they can be linked to classroom teaching.

Version Control
Date	Version	Comments
18/11/22	3.0

- The SEND Team should support class teachers in the further assessment of the student's particular strengths and weaknesses, in problem solving and advising on the effective implementation of support.

Review

The effectiveness of the support and interventions and their impact on the student's progress are reviewed in line with the agreed date, as part of the normal cycle of discussions with parents of all students. The views of the student and their parents are integral to this process.

The SENDCO, working in partnership with class teachers, may revise the support in light of the student's progress and development, deciding on any changes to the support and outcomes in consultation with the parent and student.

A record of the outcomes, action and support agreed through the discussion will be kept and shared with appropriate school staff. The record will be given to the student's parents. The school's management information system (SIMS) will be updated as appropriate.

Wave 3: Additional highly personalised interventions

If a student continues to make less than expected progress, despite support and intervention, the school may involve specialists, both in-house and from outside agencies.

The school will provide an annual report for parents on their student's progress, as part of the normal reporting process.

For those students with the highest level of need it may be appropriate for the SENDCO to request an Education, Health and Care (EHC) assessment. Students and their parents are strongly encouraged and supported to be active participants in this process. We have an expectation that parents and the young person are fully included in the EHC assessment process from the start, are fully aware of their opportunities to offer views and information, and are consulted about the content of the plan. Additionally we endeavour to work closely with the NHS and Social Care Service to ensure they are active participants, where appropriate in students' EHC Needs assessment and plan.

As part of the EHC Assessment the school may request additional top-up funding from the Local Authority, if it is felt that the cost of the special educational provision required to meet the needs of an individual student exceeds the nationally prescribed threshold.

11. Royal Greenwich Trust School's Provision for Students with SEND

The school's notional SEND Budget is used to commission a range of services, including speech and language therapy, pastoral care and counselling services to support pupils (See Appendix 3).

The provisions are reviewed regularly by the SENDCO and Deputy Headteacher: Inclusion to establish whether they are contributing significantly to student progress and offer value for money.

The SENDCO is responsible for maintaining an individual provision map for each student with an EHC Plan. This clearly outlines the support put in place which is additional to or different from that which is offered through the school's curriculum. It demonstrates how any additional funding is used.

The provision map also helps the school maintain an overview of the programmes and interventions used with different groups of students and provides a basis for monitoring the levels of intervention.

Royal Greenwich Trust School works closely with the Local Authority in the development and review of the Local Offer outlining provision available to meet the range of special educational needs and disabilities. This Local Offer is published on the Local Authority's website. Royal Greenwich Trust School's offer is published on the school's website.

12. Transition to Further Education, Employment and Training

We place students and their families at the centre of planning for future transitions.

From Year 9, students with SEND have the opportunity to have a personalised meeting with a Career Advisor, who then where possible attends future EHC reviews for those who are in receipt of one. This review explores the student's aspirations and abilities, what they would like to be able to do when they leave education or training and the support they need to achieve their ambition. EHC reviews have agreed, clear outcomes which are ambitious and stretching and will prepare our students for adulthood.

Royal Greenwich Trust School is committed to providing students with broad and balanced aspirational information about the variety of Post 16 / Post 18 pathways they may choose to follow.

13. Students with SEND and Bullying

Our Equality Policy makes it clear that all our students have the right to feel safe from bullying. We have a robust and consistent approach to bullying, which makes it clear that bullying will never tolerated. Students with SEND may be more vulnerable to bullying and harassment and so particular care is taken to ensure that they feel supported and that any incidents are dealt with promptly.

14. Students with SEND and Exclusions

When considering whether to exclude a student with SEND, Royal Greenwich Trust School pays due regard to Government guidance issued in June 2012 which states that schools should try every practicable means to maintain a student with SEN in school and should seek local authority and other professional advice as appropriate.
